RUSSO-TURKISH WAR.

Better Feeling Among the Russians--They will Fight it Out--Reported Fight between Mehemet Ali and the Russians.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Daily News' correspondent telegraphs from Russian headquarters: The feeling here is not so gloomy as I expected. The military men acknowledge that they have been beaten, but as much by their own errors as by the bravery of the Turks. There is not the slightest sign of hesitation or weakening of the determination to fight it out. Everybody feels that it is a death struggle, and a final successful issue is not doubted for an instant. Every preparation is being made for the winter campaign.

LONDON, September 22.—The daily Telegraph's despatch dated Pera, Friday says a telegram just received at the War Office from Mehemet Ali announces that serious fighting began to-day. The Turks were advancing steadily when the message left Shumla this morning. No other paper has anything to say touching the reported battle, although several have correspondents, both with Czarewitch and Mehemet Ali.

Workingmen's Mass Meeting in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 23.—A largely attended mass meeting of unemployed workingmen was held at Union Hall last night. The speeches were of a most incendiary character. An open air mass meeting was called for Sunday, the 23d instant, when it is proposed to have a street parade of the unemployed working men at an early date.

A petition has been made for a rehearing upon a question of accounts. The case no doubt will go to the Court of Appeals.

A Bad Precedent.

(Rocky Mt. Mail.)

That Judge Strong and Attorney-General Kenan are both in great error we candidly believe, and were it not for the dangerous precedent about to be established we would not say one word. It may have been the practice under the administrations of Governors Caldwell and Brogden, yet this does not change the fact, that the law fixes an annual salary for our judges, and surely when an officer of the State is qualified it is as early as his official life begins. If the law had fixed the compensation by the job, paying so much for so much work done, it would have been all right to have taken pay just as did Judge Strong for the terms held. We do most earnestly protest against this new departure.

That the correctness of our position may be seen we will suppose that Judge Pearson is, from extreme illness prevented attending upon the sessions of the Supreme Court for one year, does the fact that he rendered no assistance to his associates bar him of his annual salary fixed by law? Most assuredly not. Neither does the fact that the whole labors and responsibilities of holding the Court by his associates entitle them to more than the annual salary fixed, in view of having the aid of the Chief Justice to share the labor and responsibility. Then, it is a bad rule that won't work both ways.

We have promised the people reform, and we do insist that we should have it fully and impartially, and, by all means let our chosen ones in high places be the last ones to make strained interpretations of the law, when these interpretations are in the direction of drains of doubtful authority on the public Treasury of the State.

We do most earnestly desert from the opinion of Attorney General Kenan, and had we been one of the Commissioners of Wake, we should have entered our protest against allowing the whole amount claimed, as we do now as a public journalist enter our protest to the inauguration of any such loose construction of law fixing salaries of our State officers. And we do not believe that Judge Strong has any more legal right to the $350 named by the NEWS as being the amount drawn for the time from which he was elected to the time he qualified than has any other citizen of the State.

The Most Wonderful Echo in the World.

(Milan Correspondent Detroit Free Press.)

Our last visit in Milan was to the Villa Simmonetti, a huge old palace in a plantation about two miles beyond the city gates, now let out as a tenement house, and swarming with washwomen and their broods. You climb toilsomely into the fourth story, and are ushered into a small room facing an angle of the lofty flat walls which surround the court-yard on three sides, the fourth side being open to the level plain beyond. A woman takes up a great trumpet, shaped like a fog-horn, and proceeded to yell, shriek and grumble through it a succession of sharp and flat notes, and a marvelous echo comes back from the opposite angle and plays along the sides of the wall, repeating and thrilling the sounds, I cannot tell how many times, now in plaintive, musical strains, now in wailng cadences, now in rollicking, guffawing, exuberant jocularity. "Ho, ho, ho! haw, haw, haw! ai-i! er-r-r!" were reverberated, repeated and prolonged until they went thinly and faintly floating away in the dim distance, recalling Tennyson's melodious:

"Blow, bugle, blow! Set the wild echoes flying,
And answer, echoes answer! Dying, dying, dying!"

Then the damsel—who lives by the fees that the echo bring her, like Elijahaz, the Temanite, "filling her belly with the east wind"—took down an old musket, and loading it with great formality, ceremoniously handed it to your correspondent to fire, but not knowing whether it would kick or burst, the offer was politely declined, and like another Moll Pitcher or Maid of Saragossa, she fired it out of the window herself against the opposing angle with the most astonishing effect, the discharge echoing and re-echoing, first like the file firing of a company of infantry, then like the applause in a theatre, and fainter, until it died away like the ticking of a clock and expired in a sound like the faint humming of insects. She says it repeated ninety times. She might just as well have made it the even hundred, for I tried to verify her statement by actual court, but had to give it up in despair. One might appropriately call this talking wall a "sermon in stones." It is said to be the most remarkable echo in the world, and I can well believe it.

Charlotte Democrat: Young men who spend their nights in bar-rooms and billiard saloons need not be surprised if they cannot obtain situations in business houses. We regret to hear serious complaints about gambling houses and those who patronize them—but they are not all young men who patronize such places. Stop, gentlemen, and reflect.

PRESIDENT HAYES' SOUTHERN TOUR.

A Warm Reception at Chattanooga--Speech From the President.

When the Presidential party reached Chattanooga, they were meet by a vast crowd, who greeted the arrival of the train with rousing cheers. Mayor Wight welcomed the President as the good and worthy representative of a great nation, and proposed three cheers for the President, which were given with vigor by by the crowd. The President simply bowed, and the party hurriedly entered the carriages, as the rain was still falling, and were driven through the principal streets, which were gaily decorated with flags. On Market street a large monogramatic arch, consisting of the letters "R. B. H.," had been erected, fromt he centre of which a large floral key was suspended. The procession moved on to the Stanton House, in the suburbs, where some 1,500 people, about equally divided as to color, had assembled. The President on alighting was escorted into the large hall, where some twenty little girls dressed in white and festooned in flowers strewed their floral tributes before him as he passed through to the north gallery, where he faced the crowd amidst loud cheers. Col. J. B. Cooke, a battle-scarred Confederate, welcomed him as follows:

SPEECH OF A CONFEDERATE OFFICER.

"In the name and on behalf of all the residents I bid you welcome to Chattanooga. The respect which a people manifest towards the chief executive of a nation in its ordinary interpretation more illustrates that degree of reverence which they entertain for the laws and the devotion which they have to the constitution of their government, but when the chief ruler of a people has signalized his administration by some distinguished act of public virtue or public justice the demonstration by which he is greeted rises to a more sublime signification, and together with that tribute due to his exalted station, blend the more grateful offerings of national gratitude and personal regard. A people dejected by misfortune and restless under oppression witnessed with distrust your elevation to the chief magistracy of the nation, but as the sunlight breaks upon the landscape when the overshadowing clouds have been partly dissipated, so have the great principles of right and justice embodied in what is termed your Southern policy dispelled the gloom which enveloped them and shed the cheerful rays of peace, contentment and a dawning prosperity over these blighted States.

"As the representative of a portion of that people I tender you the tribute of their gratitude and assure you of their earnest and undivided support in the great distinguishing feature of your administration, the fruits of which were justly anticipated, and will be realized in the reviving patriotism of the country in that more perfect union, whose fraternity will be restored as its integrity has been preserved, and the universal sentiment of whose people again shall be 'Esto perpetua.' Again, sir, to you and to your distinguished compaiuons, your constitutional advisers and coadjutor-in this great work of restoration, and of whom we are proud to recognize one of our most honored fellow citizens, I extend a sincere welcome to the homes of these people and the hospitalities of this city," [Prolonged applause.]

foPresident Hayes then responded as llows:

"Fellow-citizens—It is a great pleasure to be so heartily greeted by so large assemblage of the people of this part of the United States. [Applause.] There are many circumstances of interest connected with your city of Chattanooga. Geographically it is interesting, historically it is extremely interesting; it is interesting also from the character of its inhabitants. This assemblage I regard with increased interest because of the variety of people which compose it. I suppose a large proportion of those who are now near me are citizens of Tennessee, many of Alabama, and it is supposed some or many perhaps of Georgia and of other States. It is very obvious that there are men and women here of both races. I am told also that many of those present, perhaps pretty equally divided, are people who adhered to the Confederate cause during the late great civil contest. There arehere I know some brave soldiers who fought on the Union side; perhaps almost possibly quite an equal number of those who fought on Confederate side, and here we are all together in favor of peace and harmony in our beloved country. [Applause.]

"Now there are two leading ideas--two important things to be accomplished. We want all sections to have equal rights, [applsuse], and we want all citizens to have equal rights before the law. We want the government to regard alike and equal all sections of the country. We want the government, national and State, to regard alike and equal all citizens of all races. Now these are the things to be accomplished. The mode, the measure, the pathway we may differ about, but, my fellow-citizens, if we concur heartily as to the ends, we are sure to accamplish them. I did not, therefore, discuss at all in my remarks before the people at various points the measures that have been adopted, the measures we wish hereafter to be adopted. But I do undertake to say a few things to all the audiences that honor me with their attention which I hope are calculated to increase their desire that all in this country, all sections shall have equal and exact justice. [Loud applause,]

"Now, my frends, the particular part of it all is to bring back to the country the acient harmony, the ancient concord, and the reasons for it are numerous. Part of them are natural, part of them we may call, perhaps, sentimental. Look at the first: Here is the State of Tennessee; I have tried to find out this morning how long it is from its eastern point to its western, and the eminent gentlemen who have met me as your committee, and ought, I suppose to know how large Tennessee is, vary from three hundred to six hundred miles in length. I have concluded to average, call it four hundred and fifty miles from the eastern to the western end of the State. [Voice, "Five hundred and sixty-seven miles." It is better than I supposed, perhaps a hundred miles in width. [A voice. "One hundred and seventy."] Still better. Now this State of Tennessee contains as I suppose about one-fourth as many people in proportion to its territorial extent as Pennsylvania or Ohio, and yet it has almost identically the same advantage to sustain a dense population as is possessed by Pennsylvania and Ohio, and in addition it raises cotton and other products which we cannot raise in those States.

"Now, if you want to build up Chattanooga, you want to settle this whole country as densely at least as Ohio or Pennsylvania. Now the first thing, if you wish to make this country attractive to labor and to capital and to enterprise, is to restore peace and harmony in your midst between the Confederate and the Union people, [applause;] between the colored people and the white people. [Applause.] Now these are the ends to be accomplished, for you should have that state of society which will draw to you the best emigrants of the North and of Europe. I have spoken at other places of an additional incentive, that which has come by having here an opportunity for the education of all people, black and white. Plant in every neighborhood, I have said some shady grove, a comfortable little school-house, with a competent teacher nine months in the year, and you [illegible] a better advertisement of your advantages than you can possibly get by any other equal expenditure of money. [Applause.]

"Well, my friends, these are the material considerations. You have forests, coal, iron, space, plenty of untilled land, and with peace and harmony restored you will have—nay, I am sure you are already getting—the best immigrants of this country and of Europe.

"But, my friends, we are made up of something besides that which is material. It is not alone the pocket nerve that governs man. That is very interesting, but that does not entirely control. We all of us rejoice when we see reviving again the old feeling of friendship, harmony and patriotism that enabled the fathers to build this constitution and this nation. [Applause.] They framed a constitution with a wisdom of architecture which Webster says united national sovereignty with States' rights, individual security with public welfare. They did it because they were all of one mind, one heart, because men like Washington and Jefferson met men like Franklin, John Adams and Samuel Adams, with precisely the same end in view. We wish to revive that ancient spirit and feeling throughout this whole country.

"I have been delighted since I have crossed the Ohio river with the evidence everywhere of reviving patriotism and restored peace and harmony. [Applause.] In Louisville and in Nashville we saw girls and boys sitting in front of their schoolhouse, each with his little American flag, that flag of which we are so fond, which I hope now are fond of. styling the 'old flag.' We have seen these assemblages of young people by the hundred waving their flags and singing in beautiful harmony their sacred and patriotic songs. This shows that there is coming—nay, that it has already come—what every true patriot desires. [Applause.] That is the feeling throughout the country when every man everywhere who is an American feels a pride in his flag and attachment to the Union and affection for the principles of a republican government."

The Brave Army of Northern Virginia.

[Gen. I. Heth, C. S. A., in the Philadelphia Weekly Times,]

Consider what the army of Northern Virginia had in one year accomplished. In 1862, eighty thousand strong, it attacked the Federal army one hundred thousand strong, and after seven days' fighting drove that army to shelter under its gunboats. Following up this success, after a series of engagements, Pope was driven across the Potomac. Then followed the battle of Sharpsburg (Antietam), when possibly the fighting capacity of the army of Northern Virginia never shone brighter. Its numbers reduced by fighting, fatigue and hard marching to less than forty thousand strong, it gained a drawn battle against its aduersary, who numbered nearly, if not quite, one hundred thousand men. Then came Fredericksburg, where, with its ranks recuperated to seventy-eight thousand, it hurled across the Rappahannock river an adversary who had crossed with one hundred and ten thousand men. Then follows that most daring and wonderful battle, Chancellorsville. There it again triumphed, fifty thousand strong, against its adversary, numbering one hundred and thirty-two thousand, compelling him again to seek shelter behind the Rappahannock. After such a series of successes, with such disparity of numbers, is it wondertul that the army of Northern Virginia and its great leader should have believed it capable of accomplishing anything in the power of an army to accomplish?

A Favorite Story of Dickens.

The following story may have gone the round of the newspapers but it is good enough for re-telling, since Dickens said of it: "You must know that I have appropriated that story and acquired immense reputation by it!" It occurs in a paper of reminiscences in Scribner for October, entitled "A Yankee Tar and his Friends:"

On one of Captain Morgan's voyages from America to England, he had under his care a very attractive young lady, who speedily distinguished herself by reducing five young gentlemen to the verge of distraction. She was quite ready to marry one: but what could she do with five? In the embarrassment of her riches she sought the captain, who, after a few moments' thought, said: "It's a fine calm day; suppose, by accident, you should fall overboard; I'll have a boat lowered ready to pick you up, and you can take the man who loves you well enough to jump after you." This novel proposition met the young lady's views, and the programme was accordingly carried out, with the trifling exception that four of the young men took the plunge, and, being picked up by the boat, presented themselves a dripping quartette upon the ship's deck. The object of their undampened ardor, no less wet than themselves, fled to her state-room and sent for her adviser, the captain. "Now, Captain," cried she in despair, "what am I to do?" "Ah, my dear," replied the captain, "if you want a sensible husband, take the dry one"—which she did.

A Man Murders and Butchers His Wife.

(Tarboro Southerner.)

During the term of Edgecombe Superior Court, Dempsey Morgan, a colored man, was lodged in Tarboro jail on the charge of beating his wife. At the end of the term he was discharged, the Grand Jury, for some cause, having failed to find a bill against him. He lived in this county, near Penny Hill. After his discharge he returned home and charged his wife being the instrument of his incarceration. Becoming more violent he finally murdered her, cutting her throat from ear to ear, and the fiend incarnate, not content with this ghastly deed, then completely disemboweled her, ripping her open from her breast bone to pelvis. After this, he deliberately doffed his bloody garments, leaving them on the spot, substituted others, and escaped. Turner Redmond, the efficient jailor, is our informant. There is great excitement in the neighborhood.

Presidents of Agricultural Societies.

[Charlotte Observer.]

In Georgia an aspirant for gubernatorial honors is said to be in the line of promotion when president of the State Agricultural Society. It was so in Gov. Colquitt's case. Col. Hardeman, of Macon, is now the head of the society. Which reminds us that the president of the North Carolina State Agricultural Society—Col. Thos. M. Hoit of Alamance—was mentioned somewhat prominently in the early part of last year in connection with the Democratic nomination for Governor.

No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumpsive, at least to try one bottle. Several dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed to relieve. Such a medicine as German Syrup cannot be too generally known. Ask your Druggist about it. The "Lost Art" Recoveerd.

Galen, the most celebraied physician, flourished in the second century. His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy. His cures were so marvelous that he was accused of magic. His mighty skill and success silenced his enemies, and his opinions held sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the clouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of Vegetine, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood purifier and health-restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himself.

A Hopeless Sufferer Cured by VEGETINE

NOANK, CONN., NOV. 11, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ:—

Dear Sir: Thinking that a statement of my case may meet the eye of some one suffering from Scrofula, I beg you to publish the following, which I cheerfully furnish of my own free will.

I have been afflicted with Scrofulous Humor from my birth, and at times very badly. When about six years old the disease made its appearance on my head, and it was deemed advisable to have the hair shaved, but they were obliged to cut it off with embroidery scissors, as my head was so sore I could not have it shaved. After we had succeeded in healing the sores on the outside, they broke, but on the inside, causing me great pain. There have been times when the surface of my hands was all raw from the effect of this humor, and no pen can describe the great suffering I have endured.

About three years ago small kernels made their appearance on the chords of my neck, several of which grew into quite large tumors, and nothing which we could use would remove them. My whole system was so full of scrofulous humor that it seemed ready to burst through the skin as all parts of my body, and I was in a terrible weak and feeble condition. The tumor on my neck had grown to such a size as to disfigure me badly. When in this hopeless condition I was advised by a friend to try the Vegetine, and I at once commenced taking it, and after I had used a short time the tumors commenced discharging, and I do not think I overestimate the quantity from each tumor when I say that a good-sized teacupful of corruption ran out, after which they commenced to heal up and disappear, and now my neck is as smooth and free from bunches as any lady's.

I believe the Vegetine has entirely cleansed every taint of scrofula from my system, and I desire to have this statement published, so that other sufferers may find relief, as they surely will do, if they try the Vegetine.

It will afford me pleasure to give any further information relative to my case to all who will call or address me.

ALICE SHIRLEY.

VEGETINE.

Unsolicited Evidence.

SPRING FIELD, ME., Mal4, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS;

Dear Sir: My daughter has been out of health for about two years. About a year ago she had a tumor come on her side which was very painful.

I saw Vegetine advertised in the Farmer, and sent to Bangor and got two bottles. She is now taking the second bottle; her health is much improved, and the tumor is going away as fast as it came. Every one in this vicinity knows what Vegetine has done for my daughter, and I take every opportunity to recommend it to those who are not aware of its great value.

Very respectfully,
MRS. SUSAN C. RANDALL.

Every One Speaks Favorably.

EAST MARSHFIELD, Mass., Aug. 31, 1870.

MR. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir: I have been troubled with Canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be so sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect until I tried your Vegetine. After taking a few doses I found it relieved the faintness at the stomach that always accompanies Canker Humor; and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effect. Yours truly,

P. S. SHERMAN.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

The municipal contest in Baltimore is warming up. The Workingmen's Party is making considerable headway.

The Irish Catholic Convention at Richmond, Va., has been a happy affair. Hon. A. M. Keiley, of Richmond, has been re-elected President.

According to an Alabama paper, John F. Beecher, a cousin of Henry Ward Beecher, and at one time a prominent lawyer of Pike county, that State, is now an imbecile and an invalid, and destitute of the necessaries of life.

N. Y. Tribune: The press of Georgia is unanimous and earnest in advocating the nomination of Herschel V. Johnson for the vacancy in the United States supreme court. If a Southern man is to be chosen it would be difficult to make a better selection. Judge Johnson has won the merited approval of all parties by his impartial conduct on the bench in Georgia, and has shown that he can perform the difficult task of forgetting that he is a politician when he is acting as a judge.

STATE NEWS.

A hub and spoke factory is soon to be started near Hickory.

Reidsville News: Our wide awake and faithful Sheriff Bennett, captured a Richmond drummer this week, offering to sell without license. He was taken before Justice Staples and fined, and gave bond for the penalty, which is $200, in order that he might have time to go to Raleigh and try to have it remitted by the State Treasurer.

Asheville Citizen, 20th: Maj. J. A. Engelhard, Secretary of State, and family stopped in our midst on Tuesday en route from the Warm Springs. We are sorry to learn that Mrs. E. has not recovered from the injuries sustained in the Eagle Hotel some time since by the falling of a window. The party will take in Cæsar's Head on their way to Raleigh.

Wilmington Review: We understand that Theophilus Sugg was duly tried at this term of Superior Court for Columbus county, for the murder of B. H. Watkins, on the 17th day of September, 1865. The Jury took the case on Tuesday night and after having been out for about a half hour, returned with a verdict of not guilty.

Newbern Nutshell: The Newbern Grays at their drill meeting last night, appointed a Rifle Team, composed of fifteen members of the company, which elected William Ellis Captain. The team will have three regular practices per week, at the end of three weeks, five of those who have made the best score will be selected to contest the prize at the Raleigh Fair.

Charlotte Democrat: The First National Bank of this city, within the past week, has paid out $10,000 to parties purchasing Beef Cattle in the Western counties of this State for the Baltimore market. The cattle are purchased in Haywood, Mitchell, Watauga and other mountain counties, and then driven to Henry's and put on the Western N. C. Road and shipped North via Richmond.

Statesville American: Our readers will remember that last week we gave the initials on a tomb stone, erected to the memory of a person buried at Bethel Church, Alexander county. Mr. Milholland, who engraved the marble, gives us the name in full, which is, Nancy Tabitha Talitha Louisa Rebecca Lavina Lasira Maria Vashti Caroline Queen. We read of Queen Vashti, but this was Vashti Queen. A sister survives with five names.

Concord Sun: Saturday evening a negro man traded his watch to a wagoner for a pistol and about $15 in money, but when he came to examine his green backs, he found it was "Bank of Mecklenburg" money. Search was immediately made for the wagoner and when found he expressed his willingness to "rue back." The negro got his watch back and the wagoner passed on with his counterfeit money. Look out for him.

Blue Ridge Blade: On the 13th inst., there was a fruit and flower show in Baltimore, at which a number of apples were on exhibition from this State. The apples sent by our townsman Mr. L. W. Melton, and those sent by Mr. Nat Atkinson, of Asheville, attracted special attention. We extract the following from a letter by the manager to Mr. Melton:

"The fruit was received and exhibited in good shape, and was very fine. You will see by the Baltimore Sun, which we mail to you to-day, that your collection was specially mentioned, and your fruit was also noticed in the proceedings of the Society. We are happy to be able to state that "Southern fruits" were way ahead of those from any other part of the country."

Concord Sun: Wednesday night a drunken Irish peddler, entered the residence of Mrs. Black, in this place, and going into the room where the lady of the house was sitting, pulled off his coat, took a seat by the fire and announced his intention of spending the night. This frightened Mrs. Black and she ran out of the house to call assistance from the neighbors. On coming back with an officer—Mr. Hall M. Caldwell, the tramp was found snugly ensconed in the best bed in the house. He remonstrated with the officer when told to get out, and finally had to be lifted out by force and conducted to jail where quarters were given him free until morning, when he was brought before Esq., Hill for trial. He said his name was Patrick O'Donnel, a pedler, and could give no excuse other than his drunkeness for his conduct the night before. In default of $100 bond, he was committed to jail to await trial before Judge Kerr.

OUR ENLARGEMENT---GOOD TIMES COMING.

With this number we enlarge the DAILY NEWS to a 32-column paper, thus making it the largest daily in the State, by the amount of its enlargement.

As the enlargement entails considerable expense we have waited until absolute forced by the pressure upon our columns. For some time the rush of our advertising patronage has been forcing us to curtail the amount of our reading matter. This, together with the contracts for additional advertising now in hand, renders further delay out of the question.

We are gratified at this state of things, not only on our own account, but as an infallible indication of a revival of business. Napoleon the Great regarded the sale of the bonds of his government as an unfailing indication of the amount of confidence placed by the public in the stability of his throne. He was accustomed to say that when men indicate their faith by dollars and cents, there was a sincerity in it which neither flattery nor malice could affect. So in the business world, when a recognized medium of the business community, such as the NEWS, has its advertising columns pressed to overflowing, there is sincerity in the feeling on the part of its advertisers that they are prospering and expect to continue to prosper. Business men who are not prospering will not advertise. Men who do not expect to prosper do not advertise. The names of such men will not be found in the advertising columns of the NEWS or of any other paper patronized by the business public. When men prove their faith in their own prosperity by paying out money on it, they are sincere. Such acts are worth more than all the editorials and stump speeches on the subject.

Last January we began to feel the beatings of the reviving pulse of trade. On the first of September we found that the receipts of the NEWS from advertising and subscriptions for the eight months from January 1st, to September 1st, 1877, had been considerably larger than for the corresponding eight months in any previous year since it was founded. We felt then that the breeze had sprung up. On the 15th September we found that our patronage had been more than double for the half month than for the whole month of last September. Now on the 23rd September, we are forced, as the public sees, to enlarge. We say these things with no view whatever of boasting of them, but to give what is, in our opinion, an infallible proof of reviving prosperity. Our advertisers and subscribers are feeling the effects of the same tide and it is therefore they advertise and subscribe. Any business man who patronizes the NEWS, can have these figures verified by calling at our business office.

We have no doubt, from the appearance of their columns, that the Wilmington Star and Charlotte Observer (we mention these as they are the only dailies in the State besides the NEWS who were in existence during the corresponding eight months of a previous year) and many of our State weeklies can testify to a similar increase.

For the continued support and increased patronage of the NEWS we are profoundly grateful. Democratic in politics, the NEWS has endeavored to carry out to the letter the platform of "Reconciliation and Reform" on which we fought the last campaign. Some politicians may have looked upon those words as a mere phrase to catch votes. To us they had a living meaning.

In the name of Reconciliation, we have opposed Bourbonism and bloody-shirtism and declared always that the business interests of the country demanded peace that prosperity might follow. As a proof of the soundness of our views, prosperity is following close on the heels of the cessation of sectional agitation. In the name of Reform, we have demanded purity of administration whether in Democratic or Republican hands. We have not hesitated to expose and denounce office holders of our own party who have become traitors to the pledges of Reform on which they were elected.

To the live, business men of Raleigh who are doing so much to build up the city, the NEWS is especially indebted, and we have reason to know that they are likewise indebted to us. We trust to see them each and all achieve the success they so well merit.

For the whole country we expect to see an era of good feeling and general prosperity return, and as none have worked harder to secure its return than we, so none will give it a warmer welcome or do more to make it abide always with us.

THE latest reports from Ohio in regard to the State election, which will be held in October, are to the effect that an unusual apathy exists in regard to the result. Although political committees are at work in the old way, and meetings are being held in every county, the attendance is very small. Hamilton county, which includes Cincinnati, is the vital point in the contest, as the party that carries it will be sure to have control of the Legislature; but, even there, writes Mr. Smalley, of the Tribune, there are no signs of an active canvass, or any indications clearly pointing to a result upon one side or the other.

BARRINGER'S LETTER.

We publish General Barringer's letter to show the views of a prominent Republican, after the Republican party has been soundly beaten, and the General's former political associates driven from the places they desecrated, and deprived of the powers they abused. There is some truth in the letter, mixed in, however, with a good deal of error. His criticism on the "Yankee carpet-bagger," is as refreshing as surprising, coming from such a source. He speaks of some of them as "stupid, coarse, indecent, and infamous characters." It would have been more knightly in the General to have said this when these "stupid, coarse, indecent and infamous characters," were as our "rulers and officials," in full power. Had he and other "honest Southern Republicans" stepped to the front in 1868, and '69, and displayed some of their boasted "patriotism and courage" in resisting the "Yankee carpet-baggers," and the dishonest Southern Republicans, North Carolina might not have been so robbed and wronged. The letter is well worthy of perusal. It is on the Dockery line; and squints at an effort on the part of Barringer, Dockery, Hanes, and men of that ilk, to revive the fallen fortunes of North Carolina Republicanism under their own leadership, casting the founders of their party into outer darkness.

PRESIDENT HAYES AT OUR STATE FAIR.

The reception which the President is receiving from the people of Kentucky and Tennessee is conclusive of the estimation in which his Peace Policy is held by the Democratic South. Everywhere his party affiliations have been, for the time being, forgotten and the man and the President has been welcomed. The war-ridden and poverty-crushed South has risen up, wherever he has gone, to welcome the man who has brought peace to her borders and the hope of prosperity to her people.

We would suggest to the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society that they cannot obtain a larger crowd than by securing the presence of the President of the United States at the State Fair. They sent on a committee once to invite President Grant. True he failed to come. There is more probability of their securing the presence of President Hayes, and he will draw a larger crowd.

Richmond is preparing to give him a huge reception. Nowhere through the South will a President, who desires to restore peace and prosperity, be more cordially welcomed, regardless of party, than in peace-loving old North Carolina.

ALL the implacables of the North are not yet dead. The haters of the South, though relegated to back seats in the congregation, still let no opportunity slip to show their fangs. Just before Gov. Hampton's visit to Illinois, he received several anonymous communications, of which the following is a specimen:

You darned old Rebel, if you or any of your stripe come to Rockford to make a public speech, you may expect to go back in a box. There are 100 other veterans besides myself who have constituted themselves a committee to that effect. A word to the wise.

The Mobile Register makes this pertinent comment: "Had a Northern Republican visited the South on a mission similar to that which carried Governor Hampton to Illinois, and had he received threats of this same kind, there is no doubt that the implacable newspapers of the North would have given them currency as significant of the spirit and disposition of the Southern people. The Chicago Tribune very properly says that 'such use of exceptional baseness is manifestly unfair; and, now that it is brought home to us, we may understand that the North has been too frequently misled by similar episodes that were only indicative of the occasional depth to which human depravity can descend.'"

OUR CITY GOVERNMENT.

We published the Card of Mr. G. H. Williams, City Tax Collector on yesterday. It would be an easy matter to go through it, point out its contradictions, its omission of dates and evasion of facts. To do so, however, we should have to go over much of the same ground we have already traversed.

Mr. Williams would have done well to have explained while on the subject why it was he mortgaged his private property to raise money to pay the city, if he had not used city monies, and why he should have held back $784, collected for the city before May 1st, until 26th June, when the May pay roll was unpaid. We take it that the public verdict is pretty well made up on the whole subject of the City Government. There are matters connected with it other than the defalcation of some of the officials and their retention in office which may need ventilation. We propose to give them at another time, if what we have already done, does not bring about the Reform the people demand.

THOMAS JEFFERSON said: "I confess that I am not reconciled to the idea of a Chief Magistrate parading himself through the several States as an object of public gaze, and in quest of applause which, to be valuable, should be purely voluntary. I had rather acquire silent good will by a faithful discharge of my duties, than owe expressions of it to my putting myself in the way of receiving them." This sentiment is being quoted against President Hayes. We think it does him injustice. It cannot be truthfully said that he is parading the States in quest of applause. His trip to the South, now in progress, is in response to urgent, cordial invitations, from great and representative Southern communities. It would be ungracious in him did he decline their invitations, as he has little or nothing to do at Washington, just now, and can absent himself from his post without serious interruption to his official duties.

THERE has been some talk of a suspension of the several Courts of the State during Fair week. While we wish to see everybody come to the Fair who desires to do so, we think the course of justice should not be interfered with. The postponement or suspension of the Courts, would work injury to suitors, inconvenience to lawyers, and gross injustice to prisoners who are awaiting trial. Let the Courts go on, and let everybody come to the Fair who can.

THE unemployed workingmen of San Francisco are threatening serious trouble. The laboring white men of that city are making every effort to drive away from competition with them, Chinese cheap labor. If they can accomplish their ends without disturbing the public peace or violating the law, their success would probably be a good thing for California.

Sublime Impudence.

(From Greensboro North State.)

It is said that the North Carolina construction bondholders, who are carrying on the Swazey suit, will soon apply to Chief Justice Waite for an order restraining North Carolina from having anything to do with the management of the affairs of the North Carolina Railroad Company.

The total number of persons supported by government in Madras and Mysore, both on relief works and gratuitously, on account of the famine, is over a million and a half.

WHAT A NORTH CAROLINA REPUBLICAN SAYS.

We publish the following letter at the request of its author, and also for the purpose of letting our readers see the views and declarations of a Republican well known to many of them:

Letter from Gen. Rufus Barringer.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 30, 1877.

Hon. Lewis Hanes:

MY DEAR SIR:—I fully agree with you that the policy of Mr. Hayes is having an excellent effect on our people. Many Republicans, however, doubt the permanency of this policy. I have myself no such fears. The color line once fairly broken, all the conditions are changed: organized violence is at an end; proscription looses its point and power; redress comes from the opposing ranks, and often the proscriptionists are themselves proscribed. This is just what we are now realizing throughout the South. It is, indeed, a marvelous change. Of course, there may be occasional outbreaks, but the general order and good feeling is remarkable.

I do not claim for Mr. Hayes the whole credit of this good work; it results in part from the peculiar complications of parties. The surest guarantee for its continuance lies in the fact that the Democracy are changing front on the negro. Few Republicans believe them sincere in this, but the facts point to a different conclusion. The campaign of 1868 was fought on square out Democratic issues—hatred of the civil and political rights of the negro and hostility to the incidental powers of the government—disguised under the terms "white supremacy" and "the sovereignty of the States." This campaign was followed, under the violent and revolutionary teachings of poor Frank Blair, by such a harvest of Ku Klux outrages and wrongs that the Democratic managers thought it advisable to change tactics. In 1872 they went to the other extreme, and put up Mr. Greeley, the embodiment of Radical abolitionism and Federal consolidation. But there was method in this madness. The country had become fearfully alarmed at the discovery of gigantic frauds, and practices of bribery and corruption, affecting all parts of the public service, Federal, State and municipal, especially the Credit Mobilier at Washington, the Tweed ring at New York, and the operations of Littlefield and others in the reconstructed States. This made "Civil Service Reform" a popular cry, and hence the clamor for "Honest" Horace Greeley. But this nomination was defeated by its very absurdity. It left, however, followed as it was by the singular and sad death of Mr. Greeley, a marked impression on the country. It strikingly illustrated the madness and folly of our race and sectional strifes, and pointed to the necessity for new issues, especially Civil Service Reform. From the day of the defeat and death of Mr. Greeley, Democrats more particularly began to cast about for a new programme and policy. In due time a more bold and liberal class of statesmen came to the front, to mould, guide and direct the destiny of the old Democracy. The campaign of 1876 found Tilden, Lamar, Bayard, Lord, Hampton, Key, Morgan and others, comparatively new men, the guiding spirits of the contest. The "Scott Lord resolution," by a Democratic house, virtually put the past policy of proscription and Ku-Kluxing at an end, and somewhat necessitated a change of party tactics towards the "darkey." Here Hampton led the way. No secessionist, but a gallant soldier, an early advocate for peace and reconciliation; a declared friend to negro suffrage; ignoring all race and sectional animosities, he threw himself boldly and confidently upon the colored voters and carried them by 30,000 for "honest home rule." The campaign in South Carolina was closely watched by myself and others here in Charlotte. It was not wholly free from intimidation, bribery, bluster and deception, but it was the personal policy of Gen. Hampton that won; and so it must always win, when honestly, frankly and boldly put. From that day to this, there has been no political outrage in South Carolina, nor, indeed, in the whole South, excepting probably the Chisolm affair in Mississippi. In less than ten days after the result in South Carolina was known, a distinguished Democratic politician of our State advertised that he would "address the colored people of Charlotte." And from then till now, the party machinery has been steadily at work—courting the ballot of the black man; crushing out the Bourbons, and preparing the masses for the inevitable change of the Democratic party programme. This all looks strange enough in a party that has for half a century done little else than seek to decry, to despise and degrade the poor ignorant African.

Here is "retribution," and herein is the fatal mistake of Ben. Wade, Mr. Blaine and others. If the hoary headed abolitionist could witness, as I do, the bitterest Democrats now addressing crowds of dirty negroes with oily tongues, and in the loving tones of a "man and brother;" or could he see Gov. Vance and his party friends in the North Carolina Legislature appointing negro magistrates, or Gov. Hampton and his party followers actually voting a Radical carpet-bagger the Chief Justice of the Palmetto State; or could he realize the whole brood of Democratic politicians—small and great—clamoring for negro schools and negro asylums, and voting taxes for their support, he would stand aghast with amazement, and, I fear, would swear—somehow Ben. Wade and Wade Hampton had got very close together.

And such are the results of "peaceable secession."

Now, how could President Hayes close his eyes to these facts and these events? He saw that "local self-government" and "civil service reform" were the vital wants of the day, and that the time had at last come when the ruling classes at the South must be trusted. Let him stand firm: he will not be deceived. The Southern people have had before them a hard—a painful and an untried experiment—a sad and sorrowful duty. They may not have acted wisely in allowing the fire-eaters to drag them into a gigantic civil war under the delusion of "peaceable secession;" and they may have made a fatal blunder in resisting negro suffrage and other results of the war to the bitter end. But it was all in keeping with their theory of government and of duty. Manfully did they make their sacrifices to the God of war, and nobly did they vindicate their claims to consistency and honor. The President has done well to trust such a people; and his liberal sentiments and generous treatment of our great Confederate cavalryman have touched a chord that has revived the crushed hopes of millions, and aroused aspirations for the national peace and unity that will never die or decay. They only ask now that he will go forward with his purposes and give them and the whole country "appointments that are fit to be made." Our Southern people heretofore have been sorely tried. But in all their resistance and remonstrances, they have not so much complained of mere military rule, when there was the least necessity for it, nor of mere carpet-baggers when they came with honest hearts and clean hands, for they almost universally accepted the whole programme of the Yankee carpet-bagger, such as free schools, the township system, county governments and the "Medly code." But they have complained, and been utterly shocked and outraged, at the stupid, coarse, indecent and infamous characters, too often placed or voted over them as rulers and officials, both in State and Federal affairs, from Governors, Congressmen, Judges and Legislators, down to the lowest revenue officer or township committeeman.

Let the President only assure the South that he will in due time, and in his own way, remove every trace of this infamous and humiliating rule, and guard against its possible return, and many thousands of her best sons will rise up and defend him, just as Hampton has so nobly done. But I share your fears. At heart, most of the regular politicans, the last one of the old office-holders, and nearly all the place-seekers, are unfriendly to the President and his policy. Heretofore, the machinery of government was run by party alone and the people had to submit; good was hardly expected. Now too much will be expected, and even demanded. Every scheme will be resorted to, and every error and inadvertence laid hold of, to thwart and defeat the proposed reforms. My hope is, under Providence, in the justice of the cause; in the largest latitude of discussion, and in the now aroused patriotism and courage of moderate men. Let honest Southern Republicans, whether few or many, come to the help of the President and his department officials, and see that they are not misled, deceived or betrayed. All this requires that self-sacrifice, fortitude and fearless front Southern Republicans have of late been so often called upon to exhibit. But the end is near at hand. They see the essential principles of the national party, as organized in 1867, recognized and adopted by all classes, races and sections of our broad and blessed country, and their chosen chief sounds a last bugle note for enduring peace, sincere reconciliation, "honest government" and permanent prosperity.

DR. TUTT'S PILLS

Meet the wants of those who need a safe and reliable medicine. The immense demand which has so rapidly followed their introduction is evidence that they do supply this want, and proves them to be ever furnished the American people. The highest medical authorities concede their superiority over all others, because they possess alterative, tonic, and healing properties contained in no other medicine. Being strongly Anti-Bilious, they expel all humors, correct a vitiated state of the system, and, being purely vegetable, they do not, like other pills, leave the stomach and bowels in a worse condition than they found them, but, on the contrary, impart a healthy tone and vigor before unknown.

OUR WORDS INDORSED

Dr. C. L. MITCHELL, Ft. Meade, Fla., says: . . . . "I know the superiority of your pills, and want to see them used instead of the worthless compounds sold in this country." . . .

Rev. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky., says: . . . "Tutt's pills are worth their weight in gold." . . .

He Defies Chills and Fever. . . . "With Tutt's pills, we defy chills. Illinois owes you a debt of gratitude." . . . F. R. Ripley, Chicago, Ill.

An Autumn Song.

BY E. NORMAN GUNNISON.

Now gently falls the fading light,
The Autumn's sunset veil,
While dusky grows the wavering flight
Of whip-poor-will and quail.
The grain is bound, the nuts are brown
On every wooded hill,
The light is softened on the down,
And silvered on the rill.

The partridge drums; the plover's call
Salutes the sportsman's ear,
And just above the water-fall
The fisher sets his weir.
The reddened leaves with withered wings
Sweep lightly to the sod,
And Autumn walks the land and sings,
With rustling sandals shod.

Scribner for October.

NEWS NOTES.

Cannibalism has become a frequent incident in Madras since the famine.

Turks pronounce the modern fez a superior headgear in all respects to the old-time turban.

The nomination of General Geo, B. McClellan for Governor of New Jersy, has created great enthusiasm among the democrats of that State.

The Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Illinois has passed resolutions in favor of dividing that State into three dioceses.

Hon. William E. Smith, the Republican nominee for Governor of Wisconsin, is a wholesale grocer. He is a Scotchman by nativity, having come to this country when a boy.

Seven years ago William O'Brien was murdered in St. Louis by Michael Ryan, who escaped arrest. O'Brien's widow recently recognized Ryan in the street, grabbed him, and held him until he was arrested.

The late Mr. Samuel Warren, Q. C., left personal property of the value of $60,000 to his widow and children. The manuscript of "Ten Thousand a Year" he bequeathed to his eldest son, "trusting he will retain it as an heir-loom as long as possible."

A Warsaw correspondent says that Polish ladies have turn-up noses, never flirt in public, but do a lot of it in private; are beautiful and not voluptuous, but cold and keen, and enjoy the proprieties of life easily and dignifiedly and much more so than the men, who are nervous, scheming and self-conscious.

N. Y. Sun: Under the circumstances, we should say that the chances of Daniel H. Chamberlain's success at the New York bar must be small. An Attorney-General who conspired to rob the State he was appointed to defend, is hardly the sort of man clients will wish to trust.

The nativity of the members of the late Constitutional Convention of Georgia is said to have been as follows: Georgia 145; North Carolina 8; Florida 2; Virginia 1; Connecticut 1; Scotland 1; unreported 10; South Carolina 16, Tennessee 4; Alabama 1; Maryland 1; Pennsylvania 1; Vermont 1. Total 194.

A correspondent from the seat of war, on the Russian side, writes to a London paper: "Put a Turk in a ditch, give him a gun, a sackful of cartridges, a loaf of bread, and a jug of water, and he will remain there a week or a month under the most dreadful artillery fire that can be directed against him, without flinching."

The Grand Duke Nicholas allows no pilfering by the troops under his command. Any offender detected is tried by court-martial and shot. So strictly is the order obeyed that Gen. Zotoff himself had to do without chickens for some days because the Bulgarians refused to sell him a fowl for his private table.

Many of the African kings boast of an unbroken succession in their families for thousands of years. They are absolute despots, except when controlled by custom and religion, but in general their government is liberal and kind. Mohammedanism is professed, but the fetish superstitions generally prevail, and belief in witchcraft is general.

Next month the people of Colorado are to decide whether they will allow female suffrage. The electors have been pretty thoroughly canvassed in public; but no information is given of the secret influence and inducements that may have been used to betray or color their judgment. As Lucy Stone and some of her companions are conducting the affirmative crusade, there is a pretty fair chance that the grant will not be made.

An Irish marriage was celebrated by a torpedo explosion. At the wedding of Mr. Hamilton Dultrie of the British navy and Miss Agnes Bott, when the happy couple started for their bridal tour they were rowed across Lough Swilly in a coastguard boat, and then, the bride having pressed an electric clockwork machine in connection with a torpedo which had been placed at some distance from the shore, the projectile exploded, transforming the dark waters of the lake into a fountain."

Royal Lesson on Humanity.

Queen Caroline, wife of George II, being informed that her eldest daughter, afterward Princess of Orange, was accustomed, at going to rest, to employ one of the ladies of the court to read aloud to her till she should drop asleep, and that on one occasion the princess suffered the lady, who was indisposed, to continue her fatiguing duty until she fell down in a swoon, determined to inculcate on her daughter a lesson of humanity. The next night the queen, when in bed, sent for the princess and commanded her to read aloud.

After some time her royal highness began to be tired of standing, and paused in hopes of receiving an order to be seated. 'Proceed,' said her Majesty. In a short time a second pause seemed to plead for rest. 'Read on,' said the Queen, again. The princess again stopped, and again received an order to proceed, till at length, faint and breathless, she was forced to complain. 'Then,' said this excellent parent, 'if you thus feel the pain of this exercise for one evening only, what must your attendants feel who do it every night? Hence, learn, my daughter, never to indulge your own ease, while you suffer your attendants to endure unnecessary fatigue."

Directors of A. & N. C. R. R.

[Newbern Nutshell.]

The Board of Directors of the A. & N. C. Railroad Company met in the Railroad office, in this city yesterday, and re-elected Maj. John Hughes President; W. H. Oliver, Secretary and Treasurer; William Dunn, Ticket and Freight Agent; John A. Richardson, Conductor, and James B. Hanks, Master Machinist. William P. Metts was elected Road Master, vice Hugh Murdock; Chadwick Davis, Agent at Morehead City, vice John A. Duncan; George W. Collier Agent at Goldsboro, vice J. M. Hollowell; J. H. Kibler, Agent at La Grange, vice J. W. Morris.

The directors, in order to cure any supposed defect or irregularity which might have existed in the election of President on account of its having been viva voce, and not by the by-laws, unanimously elected Maj. Hughes President by the latter mode. This cautionary measure will remove the doubt which has heretofore existed in regard to the legality of Maj. Hughes' election in June last.

I have tried the Xanthine, and found it to be what it claims—a restorer of hair to its natural color and removing dandruff.

W. W. BENNETT.

(From Rev. Mr. Cameron, Minister of the Presbyterian Church South)

MOSS CREEK, Tenn., August 22, 1876.

Xanthine Co., Richmond, Va.:

I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing all you claim for it. It is an excellent tonic, a pleasant dressing, removing and preventing dandruff and all unpleasant itching, promoting and preserving the natural growth and color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.

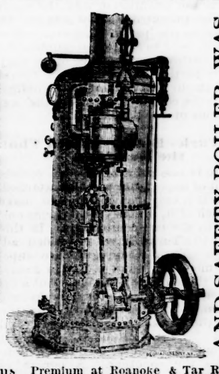
The Godwin



This Premium at Roanoke & Tar River Agricultural Society, 1875. The Gold Medal, over all other Competitors, at the North Carolina State Fair, in 1876.

It is the most perfect and economical in use. The Boiler is of new design, being vertical, yet all the heating surface is entirely covered with water, thus preventing the fire from destroying the tubes as is the case, in a few years, in all upright tubular boilers in which the fire passes through the tubes above the water line, soon destroying the exposed end of the tubes causing them to leak.

It is the most perfect and economical in use.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Cole's circus is heading for North Carolina.

——There is a letter held for postage in the Raleigh post office directed to Odell, Ragan & Co., Greensboro.

—— A number of selections from the premium list of the State Fair, prepared for this issue, are unavoidably crowded out.

——There will be a regular meeting of Wm. G. Hill Lodge, A. F. M., at their Hall Monday evening. Members notified to attend.

——The Raleigh ladies always say "thank you," so politely, when you hold the capitol gates open for them to pass through.

—— The plaistering in the new U. S. post-office building is progressing rapidly. The cornicing of the first story is as handsome work of the kind as we ever looked upon.

——Members of Raleigh Light Infantry will meet at Rescue Hall, Monday night, at 8 o'clock, for business and drill. Every member is requested to bring arms.

——Three Dry goods houses on Fayetteville street, received in one day this week, an aggregate of 385 boxes and packages of goods. Some of the boxes are as big as a Sampson county smoke house.

—B. L. Bingham of the firm of Adams & Bingham has just returned from New York. Mr. Bingham has purchased a large stock of goods, of which due announcement will be made through the columns of the NEWS.

——We are requested by one interested, to say that the water in the well at the corner of Newbern Avenue and Swain street, is absolutely nauseous, so much so that it stinks when pumped up, and has been in this condition for some time.

—— A gentleman from Alamance county, informs us that a letter had been received by a neighbor of his, from Granville county, stating that thirty children have been recently burried at Knap-of-Reeds church, in Granville, who died of diptheria.

——We knew our snake story would be eclipsed. The Duplin Record did it first and now the Charlotte Observer comes to the front with his snake with two horns; but he don't tell how long they were. Fact is, these fellows will top any truthful story that any body may tell if they can have the last say.

——Gentlemen from Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, visited the Agricultural Department yesterday and were shown round through the museums, agricultural and geological, by Col. Polk. They made inquiries in regard to the workings of the Department, land agency, immigration, etc., and seemed to be pleased and interested with the information they received.

——The sensation of Saturday night was the killing of a snake, of the species known as the "Horn Snake," near the corner of Main and Academy streets. The reptile was quite five feet long, and was killed by our foreman.—Duplin Record.

We knew somebody would beat our horned snake story, but we have the advantage yet, so far as known, in the length of the horn. Besides, the Magnolia man don't say whether the horn was on the head or the tail of his snake. We've got him there.

——Yesterday there was nothing at the Mayor's Court.

Ditto at the Justices' courts.

Ditto, ditto, at the county offices.

And ditto, also, at the departments at the capitol.

Altogether the hunt for items in these usual last resorts was as unsuccessful as Esquire Argo's attempt to find out whether Mrs. Carpenter hit S. A. Watson in their last Sunday's fight.

——We understand that the stranger, William Stanton, who has been provided quarters at Mrs. Karrer's, was very low yesterday afternoon and but little hopes are entertained of his recovery. Dr. Hines has attended him assiduously, and he is receiving every attention that kindness and humanity could suggest. The Mayor of New London, Conn., has been telegraphed, as his father's address is not known, but no answer has been received. He cannot survive long unless great change takes place in his condition for the better.

Another Excursion.

In order to accommodate a large number of people who wish to attend the dedication exercises of the beautiful house of worship recently completed for the African Methodist Episcopal Church, at Greensboro, Col. Andrews, Superintendent of the North Carolina Railroad, has agreed to run an excursion train from Raleigh on Sunday next, leaving the Raleigh depot at 2 o'clock A. M. Fare for the round trip only $1.50. Tickets good until October 1st, inclusive.

Death of W. H. Spencer.

A gentleman just from Louisburg, informs us that W. H. Spencer, of that place, died yesterday afternoon of typhoid fever. Mr. Spencer was a promising young lawyer and most useful citizen. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn their loss, but we learn they will not be left destitute, as he had a policy on his life for $6,000.

Catawba County.

A Catawba county correspondent writes to the Agricultural Department, that a marble quarry is being worked in that county, to what extent is not stated. The writer also states that 180, 844 pounds of dried fruit have been shipped from Hickory from the 22nd of August, to the 20th of September. Catawba is to be well represented in her products in Col. Polk's exhibition.

Lecture Postponed.

Hon. Josiah Turner was detained at Chatham court and failed to reach the city to lecture as announced last night. The lecture will come off at Metropolitan Hall, Monday night at eight o'clock. Subject, Rings, strikes and the Southern Underwriters Association.

Dedication.

The Third Methodist Church, located nea[r] Devereux's, will be dedicated on[the] week, September 30th, at 3 [o'clock] by Rev. A. W. Mangum, [assisted] the ceremonies will be [per]formed, and a fine ser[mon] by [Rev.] The public are [cordially] to be [present].

The Manning House.

The Manning House, Wilmington's is now being thoroughly renovated. Capt. Ed. M. Manning, the proprietor, finding he did not have room enough, is moving his office and sitting room down stairs, and will convert the rooms he used for an office and sitting room, on the second floor, into bed rooms. He is also adding a barber shop and bar for the convenience of his guests. Being thus compelled to enlarge his house, is evidence of the popularity of Captain Manning as a landlord.

Heller Bros.

We invite attention to the new advertisement of Messrs. Heller Bros., in this morning's issue. This firm has been doing a large boot and shoe business in this city for the past 18 months, and have been successful beyond their most sanguine anticipations. Mr. G. Heller, the active member of the firm, has built their trade by his close attention to business, polite manners, fair dealings with his customers, and always keeping a full and reliable stock of goods on hand.

Looking for Iron Mines.

Col. Ricketts, of Wilkebarre, Pennsylvania, is on a visit to the State prospecting for iron with a view to purchasing. He will visit Chatham next week, and perhaps other counties where the ore is found.

By the way, Col. Ricketts was in the late war and commanded a regiment of Federals at Gettsburg. He speaks very favorably of the North Carolina troops at that battle. He says they spiked two of his guns on the heights, which is evidence that our boys were about there, Col. Taylor's late report of the affair to the contrary notwithstanding.

House-Breaking.

A few nights ago the shop of Mr. Henry Smith, lock and gunsmith, on Wilmington street, was broken into by boring out the window fastenings, and a box containing several pistols, a cornet horn, worth $25, and other things taken away. Yesterday a couple of boys found three of the pistols, the fragments of the horn which had been broken in pieces and a few other things that had been in the box, in a gully in the eastern part of the city, which were returned to Mr. Smith. No clue to the rogue or rogues has been discovered.

Tucker for a number of years, and for some time past largely engaged in the cotton business as a member of the firm of Lee, Whitaker & Johnson. With Mr. J.'s experience and knowledge of the cotton business we confidently recommend him to our friends and patrons

Donations to the N. C. Agricultural Society, for the Premium List of the Next State Fair, Oct. 16th to 20th.

Acknowledged by C. B. Denson, Superintendent, in behalf of the Executive Committee.

Two yards broadcloth, $12, given by A. Creech, Esq., Raleigh, N. C.

Four dozen Durand's Seedling Strawberries, $12, 100 Monarch of the West, $2, and 100 Boyken Strawberries, $2, given by J. D. Hayes, Raleigh, N. C.

One set fine buggy wheels $18; given by Messrs. Seward, Norris & Co., 24 S. Calvert street, Baltimore.

One cotton planter, $16; given by the Edgecombe Agricultural works, Tarboro, N. C.

One cotton cleaner, value $100; generously contributed by Messrs. Geo. Allen & Co., of Newbern. It is to be given for the best bale cotton, growth of 1877, at the State Fair, and is a premium worth striving for. It cleans cotton thoroughly, without cutting up the fibre, and thus greatly enhances its value for many purposes, throwing it a grade higher in the market.

Invitations Accepted.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
Richmond, Va., Sept. 14, 1877.

Capt. C. B. Denson, Superintendent North Carolina Agricultural Society, Raleigh:

SIR: I am instructed by the President of the Richmond Corn and Flour Exchange, and by the President of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, to acknowledge receipts of the invitation extended by the Executive Committeee of your association, to the bodies over which they preside, to send a representation to your approaching State Fair, and to thank the committee and your self, most cordially for the "hearty" and courteous manner in which your communication is couched.

Already several gentlemen have expressed their desire to attend your Fair in a representative capacity. To such as go I will issue proper certificates.

Permit me to assure you that I write most sincerely in the wishes which I know are entertained by the bodies of which I have the honor to be Secretary, not only for the complete success of your Fair, but for the honor, glory and prosperity of your city and State.

With great respect,
very truly yours,
P. G. COGHLAN,
Secretary.

Judge Fowle at Bingham School.

MEBANESVILLE, Sept. 20, 1877.

To the Editor of the News:

SIR: On last Wednesday it was the writer's privilege to attend a lecture delivered by Hon. D. G. Fowle before the Bingham School. His subject was "North Carolina during and since the war." We had heard much of this famed orator, but he far exceeded our loftiest expectations. Well does he deserve the name of the "Silver tongued orator." The cadets listened with rapt attention to his burning words of eloquence. They are enthusiastic in their praise of Judge Fowle. The Judge, with feelings of pride, alluded to his being an old Binghamite. He spoke with reverence of that "man of great learning," his old preceptor, Wm. J. Bingham, Sr., who did so much for the cause of education in our beloved Southland. He said the Bingham School had always been of the highest grade, and, good as it was thirty-two years ago, its advantages now are vastly superior. He urged upon the cadets to improve these golden opportunities they are now enjoying, that in the days to come they may give a bright lustre to this renowned institution.

ALAMANCE.

Official Responsibility.

[Wilson Advance.]

The Raleigh NEWS is exposing some irregularities among officials of Raleigh. It seems that some of the city officials are in arrears for various amounts due from their respective offices for the last fiscal year. It will not do to say that the bonds of these gentlemen are good and will hold the city harmless. The custom in vogue among some public officers for using public funds for private uses cannot be justified under any circumstances. It is bad faith and leads to trouble and demoralization, even in cases where the public is fortified against loss by responsible securities. It always inures to the damage of the party responsible for the election of said officials, and no party having respect for its character and occupying high moral ground, can excuse such conduct in the men it has promoted to office. And no matter to what party a delinquent office holder belongs, if he should pervert the public funds from their proper channel, it is the duty of the press to speak out in condemnation, and give it the censure it deserves.

Our State has been cursed enough with malfeasance and defalcations under Radical rule in the past and no "irregularities," no short comings, no matter what the intention or what the result —can be tolerated in any manner by the Democratic party. Let every office holder be held to a strict accountability for the faithful performance of his duty in every particular. By such a course alone can our party maintain its obligations to the country and meet the expectations of the people.

The Turks Better Armed Than the Russians.

There is one point to which a certain amount of importance must be attached, though it is easy and common to make too much of it, namely, the arms employed by the two combatants. In this respect the Turks have a decided advantage. Their Krupp guns are superior in meterial, in range, and in accuracy to those of the Russians; but a far more important question is, how do they use them? So far as I have seen, the aim of the Turks has been bad, and that of the Russians fairly good, but much may yet be done on either side to improve the shooting. A course at Hythe would do wonders for both armies, and it is worth remembering that a great many of the men now bening brought up to supply losses in the Russians ranks had hardly any practice at all with their weapons. The Berdan rifle which is the only arm up to the average of European requirments, has been supplied to but a few of the Russian infantry, whose usual weapon, the Krinka, is decidedly inferior to the Peabody-Martini supplied to the Turks from the United States. But on the whole the better shooting of the Russians more than balances the difference in armament. Any addition to practical skill on either side would put the difference in actual shooting out of the question.—Vienna Letter to the London Times.

L. R. Wyatt.

(Successor to Rand & Wyatt,) will continue the wholesale and retail grocery and cotton business at the old stand, where he will be pleased to serve customers and friends of the late firm with First Class Flour, Bacon, Lard, Sugar, Coffe, Molasses, Salt, Bagging and Ties &c., at prices to suit.

Consignments of Cotton, Flour &c., solicited for storage and sale which will have prompt attention in sales and returns.

* d3m

It is a matter of considerable interest to farmers and merchants to know that Messrs. A. C. Sanders & Co. have turned their entire attention to the commission business. Ship them a few bales of cotton on trial. You will get the best prices. *

One penny saved is two pence gained by purchasing your groceries of M. Grausman. You can follow out the teachings of the above old adage. M. Grausman keeps a full line of all kinds of first-class family groceries.

We learned that the present session of Trinity College opened with over one hundred students, the largest number for the time of any former year.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

How it is Done.

The first object in life with the American people is to "get rich"; the second, how to regain good health. The first can be obtained by energy, honesty and saving; the second, (good health) by using GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER. Should you be a despondent sufferer from any of the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, &c., such as Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Sour Stomach, Habitual Costiveness, Dizziness of the Head, Nervous Prostration, Low Spirits, &c., you need not suffer another day. Two doses of AUGUST FLOWER will relieve you at once. Sample Bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Positively sold by all first-class Druggists in the U. S. *

Lumsden is selling Cotton Balances, already sealed; and sells the "Old North State Cook Stove" cheap and warranted. Dog collars, Little Harry Night Lamps, and wooden ware of all kinds. Makes a specialty of repairing copper stills and worms, sewing machines, guns, locks, &c.

Sensible Advice.

You are asked every day through the columns of newspapers and by your Druggist to use something for Dyspepsia and Liver complaint that you know nothing about; you get discouraged spending money with but little success. Now to give you satisfactory proof that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint with all its effects, such as sour stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water brash, coming up of food after eating, low syirits &c., we ask you to go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER for 10 cents and try it, or a Regular Size for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you.

State Fair.

(Rocky Mount Mail.)

C. B. Denson, Esq., Superintendent and Secretary of the North Carolina State Agricultural Society, will accept our thanks for a complimentary ticket to the approaching State Fair, to be held in Raleigh on the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th of October. Too much praise cannot be awarded to T. M. Holt, President, and Mr. Denson, together with others, for their untiring efforts to make the approaching Fair the grandest success ever before witnessed at any previous Fair in the State.

Now we suggest to all our railroad officials, as well as hotelists, and all others that shall be necessarily employed in accommodating the people, to put fares for their accommodation at the lowest possible living rate, so that all our people can attend. Much can in this way be done to stimulate an overwhelming number to visit the capital of the State during Fair week. We believe from accounts given us of the great effort to collect articles for exhibition, that it will be the grandest exhibit ever made in the State.
